2. Artwork Information (continued)

Artist Statement - A detailed story about the work for viewer's understanding.

Archipelago, my first ever digital detailed drawing, came into existence while on holiday with family back in 2018. What I instantly loved about testing out the digital art realm was the ability to fully erase colour on even the darkest of colours to create beautiful stark patterns that reveal whatever is on the layer beneath.

I enjoyed experimenting with the pressure sensitivity of my Apple Pencil on my iPad and throughout this testing and playing, organic shapes that I would never have thought of were rendered almost effortlessly. Very soon, Archipelago took shape and it got easier and easier to weave in more and more complexity to the work, such as lines in the 'straits' (white background) that flow between the 'islands' (the large patterned colourful shapes). This worked helped me consolidate my current art style and inspired a wave of organically detailed illustration works, such as Bag o' Patterns and Siyanse 四颜色.
