Artist Statement - A detailed story about the work for viewer's understanding.

"Having been born in Bolivia, South America, I have seen firsthand how bad monetary policies, graft, and communism have worn down the economic prosperity of my fellow countrymen and of those living in surrounding nations. As in the case of Venezuela, Bitcoin has been adopted, to offer some level of stable commerce. In these pieces, I wanted to try and capture the dichotomy between what most consider to be the ultimate nationalistic symbolism, a countries flag, and the rebellious nature of a non-government sanctioned, overly regulated form of alternative currency. Bitcoin.

As with all of my non-commissioned work, I try to draw inspiration from subject matter that resonates with me. As an established artist just entering the NFT space, I am fascinated with and learning more and more about Blockchain technology every day. I wanted my first NFT pieces to hold some historical reference to the time at which they were created. Perhaps in the not too distant future, a different digital currency with faster transaction speed and greater ease of use will be adopted by the masses in these countries. But for the time being, Bitcoin is doing the job."
